

- VSPM's College of Physiotherapy College was working fulltime with dedicated services to OPD and IPD patient.
- Physiotherapy College faculty, intern and post-graduate were instrumental in the rehabilitation of patients.
- SARS-CoV-2 also known COVID 19 has been observed to cause short and long term functional impairments.
- There have been reports of Post Covid discharge symptoms such as dyspnoea, fatigue, and reduced overall capacity.
- Physiotherapy was an integral component of pulmonary rehabilitation in COVID 19 patients
- Physiotherapy rehabilitation played a key role in improving functional status and quality of life in patients.
- COVID 19 being a multisystem disease with primary affection of the lung can be benefitted with physiotherapy intervention.
- The consequences of COVID-19 was specific to each individual and their rehabilitation needs were specified to these consequences such as:
 - Long term ventilation
 - Immobilisation
 - Deconditioning
 - Related impairments – respiratory, neurological, musculoskeletal

Dr. Akshay Nimje